He concludes to-day, as a logical, argumentative effort, it far creeded the reputation of the Senator He indulged in fewer slights of fancy or impassioned oratory than waves anticipated—to serving them perhaps for to-day. The speech was a reply to Senator Benjamin of Louisiana, who is the clearest and ablest Senator from the Cotton States. On Monday, Benjamin delivered his farewell address. He announced that all possibility of compromise was gone, and that Louisiana and six other Cotton States would be out of the Union along with South Carolina before the 6th of March. The reasons he gave for breaking up the Union were, is. The defeat of the pro-slavery party at the election, and its determination not to submit to the popular verdict. 2d. rebels could make. Without a strong fictilla they could not drive him out. As a political question, he had nothing to do with it. He knew nothing and cared less what targain Floyd might have entered into with the insurgents. That was not his affair. He had a military reputation, won at the cannon's mouth, to sustain; he had the Carlos of seventy brave mere entered to his hands; he had the pubmen entrusted to his hands; he had the pub-ile property to defend, and the honer of the stars and stripes to preserve inviolate; so he drew his sword and cut the meshes that trai-tors had woven about him, and freed himself from their toils. He simply performed his duty his country like a discreet and gallant officer. The pen fails to depict the rage and chaprin of the Charleston rebels when, on the moraling of Dec. 26, they discovered that the bird had flown. Out there in the channel rose the frowning battlements of Fort Sunter, and be-hind the ramperts and big guns stood "Old Kentuck" and his brave boys, laughing to soom the impotent fary of the profane mob, who stood shaking their fists afar off. He had completely "eschered" them. Then 'the had completely "eschered" them. Then the lightning was put in requisition to demand of the President upon what authority Major Anderson had placed himself where he could neither be captured nor massacred? Buchan-an, in the blindness of imbecility, openly con-demned Anderson, and immediately convened his cabinet to see if the galiant Majo vence ms cannet to see it the gainst Anjor should not be instantly ordered back to Monttrie, and then be court-martialed. Floyd seconded the proposition. Thompson of Missispipi and Thomas of Maryland backed him. But Holt of Kentucky, Black and Standeanwhile the country was shouting over the

All the Kentuckian Is "Washington remonstrated against the threatened indignity to their felow-citizen. His wife was a Pennsylvan girl. All the Pennites came to the support of her husband. Gen. Scott flung his word in-to the scale and threatened to resign if Ander-son was remanded back to Moultrie. Finally the Major was sustained, and the traitors wer discomfitted. Floyd left the Cabinet in a tow ring rage. He should have been kicked out, and then arreated for his crime against his country. He had confessed his complicity with trattors, and claimed that his honor was at stake in maintaining the bargain he had en-tered into with them! The next news we had was that the President had offered the vacant seat to Gen. Scott. The report electrified the city. The cockade gentry stood aghast; their knees smote together; each one saw a galows, and a noose at the end of a bemper ope, about large enough to slip over his own ead. The Union men wept tears of joy They buzzaed, laughed and congratulated each other. Pretty soon another repost prevailed im a few weeks hence. Then the fire-enter

The in-tention of the fire-enters to violently resist the tention of the fire-caters to violently resist the transit of Lineoin through the State, will be vigorously met by the loyal cithags, who declare that they will volunteer to do escort. duty, to see him safely to the White House. The attitude of their neighbor, the old giant who sits on the Alleghamy Mountains, with an iron crown on his head, has quickened the loyally of Marylanders. In short, when the Pennsylvanians were told that the man for whom they had given 15,000 majority was not going to be silowed to reach Washington to take the oath of office, they "got their Dutch up," and declared with Jacksonian emphasis that, "by the Eternal," he should go through that, "by the Eternal," he should go through Maryland, and be insugurated on the steps of the Capitol on the 4th day of March, 1861, and they would take the contract of opening a ond from Harrisburgh to Washington; and, to make good this pledge, they directed Gov. The members of the Supreme Court have waited on Buchkana in a body, and given him a piece of their mind as to his constitutional daty. To the surprise of every one, Chief Justice Taney demanded of the President that he should retrace his steps, and take measures at once for the preservation of the Union and the maintenance of its authority. It is reported that he upbraided the Old Pub. Fune, with neglect of duty, and warned him of the awful consequences in store for him if the ship of State was not put on a different tack. Those old gentlemen are not pleased with the idea of having the Union destroyed, one of the effects of which would be to tarn them out of their rince warm burths to seek subsisteece on desolate commons.

A Mark Killed in Karrylle, 2-Of Thursday last, in Karville, about 4 o'clock P. M., Frank Keenan, Michael Keenan and Barney Kelly, were riding in a sieigh and all sitting on the same cent, and Patrick McGrath was in the hind part of the sleigh with a double barrel shot gun in his hand, loaded. Both hammers were cocked, and in some mysterious manner, both barrels were discharged at the same time, and both charges entered the right side of Barney Kelly, below the ribe causing of frightful wound. He was taken to the neares house, and Dr. Potter cailed. After examining the wound the Dr. said there would be no hell for him. He lived four of five hours, suffering severely, when death came to his relief.—Aurora Beacon. The City Council of Milwankee have proposition before them to purchase two steam re engines. Bosros, Jan. 5.—Gov. Andrew's Inaugura' was delivered to-day to the Legislature. His financial statement shows that $47.700 are to be raised by State tax to cover deficits in previous years. The aggregate amount of taxable property in the State is $897,725,327, an in crease of about fifty per cent. in ten years. The enrolled millitin of the State exceed 135, 000, while the active militin are but 5.000. The Governor rangests that a larger number be placed on an active molitin at the State may be ready to give her share of force in any exigency of public danger. The Governor favors the abolition of the death penalty, and a change in the statutes on marriage and divoce. The Personal Liberty law he believes strictly constitutional. The right of a person to claim an alleged fugitive should always be subordinate to the original fundessible right of every freeman to his liberty. He submits the subject to the wisdom of the Legislature. Of the Secession question he speaks at some length, to the effect that the people of Massachusetts respond, in the words of Jackson, "the Federal Union must be preserved." Boacding.
